RIOTING IN CORK.

THE RIVAL FACTIONS IN COLLISION.

DILLON AND O'BRIEN PRESENT-THE BOMB-THROWING IN DUBLIN.

Cork, Oct. 27.-William O'Brien and John Dillon arrived to-day in this city, where they attended a meeting in the Assembly Rooms, and afterward were present at the Cork County Convention. As soon as the convention had adjourned they passed through the city, still accompanied by the procession which met them at the railroad station. Suddenly the McCarthyites were attacked by a large mob of Parnellites, and both sides fought desperately with sticks, clubs, shovels and pikes. A detachment of mounted police spurred their horses in between the two lines of combatants, striking right and left with the flat of their sabres amid two crossing showers of stones and bricks. A large number of wounded men were stretched bleeding and groaning in the streets before the treopers could restore order.

There is great excitement everywhere in Cork to-night. The antagonistic groups, it is feared, will reassemble, and there is danger that the battle between them may be resumed.

Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon were met at the railroad station by a deputation composed of members of the National Federation, representatives of the Gaelio Club, the municipal officers and a large number of priests. An enermous crowd lined the route from the station to the Assembly Rooms. As the procession, which was headed by a brass band and escorted by a strong detachment of police, passed through the streets there was considerable hissing, and several stones erashed through a large portrait of Mr. O'Brien which was carried in the parade. Upon arriving at the Assembly Rooms Messrs, Dillon and O'Brien had an enthusiastic reception, during which sev eral warmly applauded speeches were made.

While the speechmaking was in progress t body of Parnellites attacked the musicians of the McCarthyite band, and tried to demolish their instruments. A free fight followed, but the police charged upon the combatants and soon put an end to the hostilities.

In his speech at the Assembly Rooms, Mr. O'Brien said that he was willing to give fair play to his opponents, but, he added, he would not yield to " brickbats and dynamite bombs. "a remark which was received with applause. Continuing, Mr. O'Brien said that the Parnellites might blow up the offices of the newspaper representing the views of the McCarthyites, "but," he exclaimed. "they cannot destroy the spirit which animates that party." (Tremendous applause, mingled with some hooting.) At another part of his discours Mr. O'Brien, amid cheers, called upon John E. Redmond, the Parnellite candidate for Cork City and the new leader of the Parnellite party, to repadiate all responsibility for the dynamite incident last night in Dublin.

Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien, after the reception at the Assembly Rooms, were escorted by a number of friends to the Cork County Convention, where Mr. Dillon acted as presiding officer. In the course of an address to the county delegates, Mr. Dillon complained of what he termed the "organized violence" of the Parnellites, and made other allusions to the political situation, which were loudly

There were several affrays here last night at the close of the various political meetings, and sticks and stones were freely used by both parties. A girl who was an onlooker during one of these contests was seriously injured about the head and face by stones. The other persons hurt are also, as a rule, suffering from injuries about the face and head.

The sermon preached last Sunday at Kilkenny by Father Fidelis, of the Order of St. Francis, is much commented upon. He bitterly denounced Parnell, saying that "the most deprayed monster who ever lived" was "now swept off the face of the earth." He also said that the women who were supporting him were "limbs of the devil," Dublin, Oct. 27 .- "The National Press," organ of the McCarthyifes, referring to the attempt possibly to injure or kill some members of its contained dynamite, says to-day: "The men who had the infernal machine at our doors have been maight for the past ten months by 'The Freeman's Journal and by 'United Ireland' that freedom of opinion will no longer be tolerated, and that every opposing Nationalist may rightfully be publish. opposing Nationalist may rightfully and, if necessary, murdered." The ress also declares that after the f the bomb in the Abbey-st area fifty or sixty men, supposed to be part of the gang of Paraelities who are alleged to have caused the explosion, poured into "The National Press" office, shouting: "To — With the Healy murdence in the control of the control

Limerick, Oct. 27.—Two boys of this city quarrelled to-day while discussing the question of the leadership of the Irish Parliamentary party. * FRANCE AND MADAGASCAR.

QUERIES FROM THE DEPUTIES-THE COURSE OF

THE AMERICAN CONSUL-Paris, Oct. 27,-In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Mahy interpellated the Ministry, and complained that an English syndicate had been allowed to obtain ession of 3,000 square miles in Madagascar, near Diego Suarez Bay, in violation of the protectornic rights M. Ribot, the Foreign Minister, replied that the Malagassy Government had granted Frenchmen concessions of forest lands and mines, and foreigners could not be excluded from similar grants. Prance, he continued, had no right to interfere with the internal affairs of Madagascar, though she could intervene in arrangements between the Hovas and foreign Powers. In reply to a query from another deputy, who asked of been done in the case of the Consul of the United States to Madagascar, who had tried to dispense with the exequatur of the French Government, M. Ribot said France had received satisfaction in all respects touching the incident.

There was, in fact, no diplomatic difficulty between France and the United States in regard to Madagascar, out only a misunderstanding, which was promptly leared up. It was explained at length in The Tribune The Malagassy Government had of September 22. accepted the French protectorate, which was recognized first by the United States, in 1887, and later by other Powers. Through the operation of that protectorate, all the foreign relations of Madagascar must be conducted by the French Resident-General in the sland. It is to him that foreign Consuls must apply or their exequatur; and Mr. Campbell, the late American Consul, who had obtained his directly from he Tananarive Government, had it confirmed later with the consent of the French Resident, after the proclamation of the protectorate. Recently his sucessor, Mr. Waller, asked for his exequatur through the rench Resident. But, as admitted by the "Journal des Debats," which had among its editors M. Ribot the actual French Minister of Foreign Affairs, the answer to Mr. Waller's request, was unaccountably delayed; and tired of waiting, the American Consul applied directly to the Hova Government at Tanarive. His course, it appears, was not supported by harive. His course, it appears, was hot supported by the Department of State at Washington, and he finally received his exequatur through the proper channel. The diplomatic incident mentioned in the French Chamber yesterday was, therefore, amicably settled to the satisfaction of France and the United States, it is stated by the "Revue Francaise" of Paris, an authorized organ of special information relative to explorations, and the colonies, that England has justice in Madagascar. She has withdrawn the protectorate in Madagascar. She has withdrawn the exequatur granted formerly to two Malagassy Consuls, who had been appointed directly by the Hova Government, to London and Mauritius Island.

finding a site for the club. It was announced in The Tribune in September that representatives of the two rganizations were engaged in negotiations, and that he hospital trustees were willing to sell part of their and. That is just where the matter stands now. One dde is auxious to buy, the other ready to sell, but the difficulty is in agreeing upon the terms George Macculloch Miller, president of the St. Luke's Hospital Society, said yesterday that the trustees would not sell the plot, 100 feet in Fifth ave, and 200 feet in Fifty-fourth-st., for less than $1,000,000, nor would they sell the whole property, which is 200 feet in the wenne, from Fifty-fourth to Fifty-fifth-st., and 400 feet deep, for less than $2,500,000. No offers of less than those figures would be considered. The Sile Committee of the Union Club will not meet for a week or two, and in the meantime it is hard to say whether it is likely to accept Mr. Miller's offer of the plot desired. In all probability the club will be in no burry to pay a round million for a site for its new clubbouse.

At the same time the eight lots of the hospital property undountedly form he most desirable situation in the city for a clubhouse. The plot is just about far enough uptown, and besides is on the northwest corner, which is by all odds considered the most advantageous for a club site. Another point is that the eight lots contain no buildings, so that the club would not have to pay for structures which it would have to tear The club members evidently were aware of the fact that a suitable site would cost a great deal of money, for they anthorized the committee to spend $1,000,000 if necessary. The Union Club contains so many men of wealth that it would hardly draw back on a mere question of dollars. The report of the Site Committee, which was appointed on May 23, 1888, ended with this significant sentence: "The committee express the opinion that the club is amply able to finance any purchase it may make."

A Union Club man said last night: "Judged by the recent sales of real estate in the neighborhood, the eight lots of the St. Luke's Hospital property are worth quarter back, was unanimously elected to fill the vacant just about $720,000, and I've no doubt that the Union place. Payne, of Yale, '92, will be unable to coach Club would readily pay $750,000 for them. Yet the hospital firstees are undoubtedly justified in charging more than this sum, although I will not say that $1.000,000° is not too much. The building of a clubhouse on part of the hospital property would unquestionably lower the value of the rest for residence purposes. A lot of cales are always standing around a club, and the privacy of the neighborhood is otherwise intruded upon, so persons are not arrious to build homes on near by lots. Still, no other site for the club seems to be available, so I cannot say just what the outcome will be. hospital trustees are undoubtedly justified in charging Sarah had no early advantages, but while working for families in Virginia City she learned to read. She had the gift of speech and showed a great desire to lift the people of her tribe out of degradation. She washed clothes to buy books and improve herself, and served as interpreter on reservations. She finally married Lieutenant Bartlett, at Camp McDermott. He treated her budly, but she has always maintained that army officers were the best friends of the Indian. She rendered valuable aid to the Government in the Bannock war, and saved many of her people from exile. Sarah got a divorce, and about five years ago married an Army commissary clerk named Hopkins, of this city. Soon afterward she went East, and Miss Peabody and Miss. Horace Mann, of Boston, aided her to bring out her book, "Life among the next June. He said that his stealings had extended next June. He said that his stealings had extended next June. She lectured in Boston, New-York and other ities, and made a good impression. She was so great favorite with Miss Peabody that the latter had her a guest in her own house. When Sarah returned to Nevada she began teaching Piute children at Lovelock's, Nevada, and she is said to have had great success. Her influence over her people was wonderful, and when the "ghost dancers" came from Pine Ridge last year to induce the Piutes to join them, she persuaded her tribe to send messengers back with the answer that the Pintes were contented. Her main purpose in life was to have the Pintes removed to a reservation far from the cattle settlements of the whites, where they couldn't get liquor, and to have the Government give them aid in farming, but she did not live to accomplish this work.
